YOUR WORK WILL SAVE AUTOMATICALLY.
WHEN YOU ARE FINISHED WITH YOUR STORY MAP, SELECT "PUBLISH"
